

The PUBLIC owns the airways, and the FCC is acting irresponsibly in allowing a few people to control them. The free transmission of art, music, opinions, ideas and speech are being severely constricted by this trend. Let the corporations compete in the quality of their services within their industry not in the quantity of transmission signals of which belongs to the public in the first place!